Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with psyllin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children. Every second of the working day some one somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live some one is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

GENTRY CIRCUS "PACKS 'EM IN" AT TWO PERFORMANCES HERE

Ideal Weather Favors First "Big Top" of Season at Patterson Field.

Favored by ideal weather Gentry Brothers' Circus, which exhibited at Patterson field Saturday, "packed 'em in" at both afternoon and evening performances.

With the blare of trumpets the dazzling light from many "floods," horses, trapped with glittering blankets, and the entire company taking up the chant as the Oriental spectacle wended its way around the tent, the first circus of the season unfolded its program.

Dad and the boy, mother and all the girls seemingly got as big a thrill out of the circus as if they never before had seen the dark boy try to ride the mule, and the dressed up "strange woman" follow all the attractive men to the seats.

Diving from routine, however, Gentry Brothers introduced a new feature when the Orient spectacle was given an operatic flourish, with the entire company, making a tremendous chorus and the soloists grouped to the center stage for the solo roles.

Following the song numbers the circus swung into the regular program of trained ponies under the direction of John Davenport and Herbert Huff. Then gayly bedecked women began flying through the air on ladders and bars, and the many of the show's funny men were released.

Ida and Ernest White, trapeze workers, made a decidedly clever team. Ernest did a whirling stunt standing on his head while balancing himself on a trapeze bar, presenting an act which was different and difficult. Ida is a performer of no mean merit and does a revolving trapeze act and a pole stunt. Bobby and Betty Zenora were clever performers on a ladder and in the "butterfly" feature while suspended by the teeth. Miss Zenora was daring in her performance.

Particularly good were the elephants. Gentry Brothers' show is building a menagerie which will be a big feature. Also it is to be historic, for it will be built around the first elephant ever owned by the show. "Momo" was purchased from the old Sells-Barker show back in 1889 and she has been with Gentry Brothers ever since. Two of her babies are trailing along with her—they are "Momo's Boy" and "Momo's Baby." The elephant herd was divided for a two ring act, Captain Blondin and Miss Crawford putting them through their "tricks." The response was good and the elephants were well trained.

A first class act was given by the Clyde O'Neal trio on horizontal bars. Then there were clever acts when a performer climbed the steps mounted on a large wagon wheel, and the Knight troupe performed in a wire walking stunt.

There were horses who did various dances, tumblers and foot balancers, and all the brilliant and fast moving panoply.

Following the regular show, the wild west show and the wrestling match attracted a large patronage. The show left here early Sunday morning for Salem where it is exhibiting today.

How Much Water Should Baby Get? A Famous Authority's Rule By Ruth Brittain

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight-pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and restless spells. It doesn't give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach, and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc. leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increase in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold.

Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty cent bottles contain thirty-five doses.

Maytime

By Popini

The playtime of the year! Glorious May days when everything in Nature sings a joyous song of welcome to her winter-weary children. What a wonderful feeling to get out into the budding woods; to watch the newly mated birds carefully building the soft little nests; to find the dewy violets and starry anemones peeping shyly through the fresh greenness of the new moss.

Everything's new! Everything's fresh! Just made for lovers! So for two who have found this priceless boon, what a wonderful time it is for hiking, finding the wonders of a new earth. And they are all the newer and more wonderful because they're seen through the eyes of love in Maytime.

SUFFERED EVERY SPRING FOR TWENTY YEARS

"I used to dread the coming of Spring," said P. W. Pence, 2725 Fifth avenue, Beaver Falls, Pa., a man fifty years old, while talking with the World's Tonic druggist. "Somehow when Nature began to brighten things up, I got dull and listless. My appetite was poor, I was cold and just wanted to loaf around the fire or in the warm sun every Spring. "People used to talk about Spring fever. Guess I must have had it. But one night I heard the World's Tonic lecturer explain why I felt that way. He said the rich food we ate in the winter, the way we lived indoors, and our lack of exercise made our body sluggish. Often, he said, that sluggishness resulted in catarrhal conditions. Then our whole body was poisoned by waste matter we didn't throw off, and the blood was thick with impurities. That set me thinking, and I realized he was describing my case. I took a bottle of World's Tonic and its effect was wonderful. It wasn't a week until I began to feel better. My catarrh cleared up, and I began to feel full of energy. In two weeks I was glad it was Spring. "That's what ails a lot of us. Instead of being Spring that hurts us, it's the load of impurities we carry over from the winter. Now a bottle or two of World's Tonic makes me feel like a new man every Spring." World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's, also C. N. Brannan's, Wellsville, and all other reliable druggists. (271)

The principal event of the afternoon will be the crowning of the May queen, Miss Mildred Householder, a member of the Senior class.

Two additional features will be of unusual interest. During the six weeks preceding the exercises, the first six grades of the school have been conducting a health contest. At tomorrow's program all children meeting requirements of the contest will be awarded health badges.

The scholarships are available annually under provisions of the will of the late William McCullough of Yellow Creek.

The cast will be composed of Ironside night school seniors, and the affair will be staged under auspices of the Wellsville Rebekahs.

The playlet will start at 8 o'clock.

PAY ORDINANCE UP TOMORROW

Measure Scheduled for Third and Final Reading.

Municipal legislation calling for an increase in the wages of patrolmen and firemen which has twice run the councilmanic gauntlet, successfully, will be brought out a third time when Wellsville solons hold their regular semi-monthly session tomorrow night.

On two readings, the pay raising ordinance has passed by votes of 4 to 3 with Solons Lowary, Keay and Reil opposing and Councilmen Peters Haugh, Swearingen and Nicholson favoring it.

It will be up for third and final reading tomorrow night.

The wages of patrolmen, under the ordinance, would be increased from $130 monthly to $145 and firemen from $115 monthly to $130.

Council also is awaiting a report from City Solicitor Raymond Knepper on cemetery endowment legislation suggested by Mayor Wallace L. Fogo several weeks ago and recommended by solons.

It has been suggested that the legislation provide for a 10 per cent levy, or endowment, on cemetery receipts with which the burial plot can be maintained. The endowment fund, of course, would remain intact perpetually, and the interest would be used for maintenance.

The upkeep of the cemetery is increasing constantly, the mayor points out, and it is necessary to create a source of revenue for future purposes.

HEALTH OFFICER KIWANIS GUEST

Dr. A. P. Lippert, Columbus, head of the department of education of the Ohio department of health, will be the guest speaker at tomorrow's noon luncheon meeting of the Wellsville Kiwanis club, to be held in the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Lippert's subject will be "Health Conservation."

Cabinet Member Rests on Jay Cook Estate.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 14.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover today was to continue his journey to Ognitz, the summer estate of Jay Cook, Jr., of Philadelphia, about 12 miles north of here, where he will spend several days of rest.

Hoover arrived here early last night by motor. He was accompanied by Lawrence Richy, his assistant; Mr. and Mrs. Henry O'Malley, former commissioner of fisheries; and G. C. Leach, of the federal fish culture bureau. They spent the night at the Park hotel here.

O'Malley and Leach will attend the state convention of the conservation council which opens here today, while Hoover and his assistant will go by automobile to Ognitz, located near Salladasburg.

The secretary of commerce will also visit the Texas Fish and Game club, located along Larry's creek, for a fishing excursion.

Hoover refused to discuss politics, saying that he was there for a rest and that he had left all politics in Washington.

Cook arrived late Saturday night and was at Ognitz today awaiting the commerce secretary.

"STUDENT PRINCE" AT AMERICAN

One of the world's simplest, and most appealing love stories has required one of the most elaborate settings ever built to transfer it to the screen.

This is the paradox of "The Student Prince," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's huge filmization of the famous old play, in which Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer were directed by Ernst Lubitsch, and which comes today to the American theatre.

With their love as the central theme, a cast of thirty-five famous players and several thousand extras were necessary to reproduce the famous old story, immortalized on the stage by Richard Mansfield, and recently revived in musical form as "The Student Prince."

Whole towns were built; great castles in Germany reproduced, and the University of Heidelberg recreated in wood and plaster for the huge production. In one scene, showing the welcome of the townspeople to the young prince, played by Novarro, two thousand villagers, guardsmen, police and other characters appear in a gigantic setting depicting a public CONNEAUT, O., May 14.—The desire of one auto driver to pass another, near a grade crossing at Espyville, Pa., 25 miles southeast of Conneaut, today had resulted in the death of eight persons and serious injury to five others.

According to witnesses of the tragedy, the two automobiles Sunday noon were racing toward a crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad and crashed into a northbound train.

The dead: C. R. Hayes, 31, farmer, North Shenango, Pa.; Mrs. Marie Hayes, 28, his wife; Everett Hayes, 10, son; Melvin Hays, 8, son; Garry Hayes, 5, son; Delbert Hayes, 3, son; William Thomas, 32, brakeman of Albion, Pa.; Ward Thomas, 60, Albion, Pa., his father.

Mort Thomas, a brother of William Thomas, was the sole occupant of the two cars to escape injury. Both autos crashed into the locomotive of the train, it was said.

HERRON GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Slayer Must Spend Two Days Annually in Solitary.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., May 14.—William Herron, convicted slayer of his sister-in-law, Miss Viola May, 23, during a lonely automobile ride on the night of February 7, was today sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor by Common Pleas Judge E. H. Lindsay. Herron was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury Friday night.

Under his sentence, Herron must spend the seventh and eighth days of each year in solitary confinement "to reflect upon his evil deed." He will start serving his sentence at the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus Wednesday.

Herron was alleged to have slain Miss May in an argument over his attentions to her while they were in his parked automobile.

He claimed that he pushed her away from him when she threatened to tell his wife that they had been intimate with each other and that she slumped into the seat of his car dead. He then threw her body into the Tuscarawas river where he became frantic with fear. During his trial, the state contended that Herron choked Miss May to death.

Herron was given tomorrow to arrange for the care of his wife, sister of the girl whom he is alleged to have slain, and his three children of a former marriage.

Find Woman's Body in River.
MARTINS FERRY, O., May 14.—The body of Mrs. Minnie Ross, 50, was found in the Ohio river here this morning.

Police were today investigating reports of houseboat residents to the coroner that they saw four persons walk into the river shortly before midnight. Screams followed soon after, they said.

HOLD-UP STAGED AS DEMOCRATS DISCUSS "CHICAGO CRIME WAVE"

CHICAGO, May 14.—The height of something or other was achieved here early today when a dozen members of the Fourth Ward Democratic club had their discussion of "Chicago's crime wave" interrupted by three bandits who held up the club.

"Now when Judge Lindsay is elected state's attorney," began one of the politicians, "He will —"

Just then the door opened and in walked three gun-toting bandits. "Be nice, boys, and nobody will get hurt," commanded the leader.

Benjamin Kanne, attorney for the sanitary district, was the heaviest loser, being robbed of a watch valued at $1,000. Others were robbed of amounts varying from five to fifty dollars.

As a parting shot the bandit leader said: "You boys should learn to separate politics from crime."

SLAIN AS HE ENTERS CHURCH

Sunday School Chief Kills P. F. Clark in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, May 14.—Possibility that Fred J. Tyrrell, 53, father of six children and for 11 years a Sunday school superintendent, will plead self defense as the motive for killing Philip P. Clark, who was shot to death in the church yesterday because, police said, he feared Clark intended to demand his resignation from high church office.

Clark previously had accused Tyrrell of alienating his wife's affections and breaking up his home.

Tyrrell was preparing the day's lesson in the pulpit when Clark entered and engaged a church committee man in conversation, witnesses said. The superintendent leaped from the pulpit, drew a revolver, and fired three shots at Clark, who died almost instantly.

Tyrrell went immediately to his home where he was arrested. Nearly fifty persons, assembled for the church services, witnessed the shooting.

Cabinet Member's Delegate Total Near 400.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Hard hit by the apparent drift of Pennsylvania to the Hoover candidacy, the anti-Hoover allies were digging in today for a protracted and stubborn last-ditch fight to "stop" the secretary of commerce at Kansas City four weeks hence.

Their task has been made doubly difficult—perhaps impossible by the apparent willingness of the Mellon machine in Pennsylvania to take Hoover if President Coolidge cannot be persuaded to stand again. Upon that nearly all the practical politicians of Washington were agreed today.

Hoover's pledged and committed delegate strength is due to cross the 400-mark this week, not counting any votes from New York or Pennsylvania, whose combined strength is 169 in the convention. From this it is apparent that if New York should follow Pennsylvania into the Hoover camp the fight against Hoover at Kansas City becomes more or less an idle gesture.

As of today, Hoover has approximately 367 committed delegates. New Jersey will add 31 in tomorrow's primary, and on next Friday Oregon will fall into line with 13, pushing the Hoover total across the 400 line. In both these states Hoover has no opposition and the state leaders are for him. Their 44 votes go to him by default. Even half of New York's, coupled with Pennsylvania's 79, would put the cabinet candidate within a few votes of the necessary 545.

BADGER FLEES FROM PARK DEN

Animal Hides in Hills Back of Rock Springs.

Somewhere in the West Virginia hills near Chester a badger, recently received at Rock Springs park from Michigan is at large today.

The animal, captured a few weeks ago in the woods of Michigan and received at the park last Thursday, made its escape sometime Friday night when it broke through the wire on its temporary cage. "The escape was not discovered until Saturday."

The badger weighs about 30 pounds, and while it appears vicious when caged it is said not to be dangerous. Park employees have scoured the hills back of the park but have found no trace of the animal.

Ask Shooting Quiz

Oyster told newspapermen today that he commanded McKinnon to halt, warning he would shoot. When the order was ignored Oyster claims that he shot through the curtain of the automobile at the fleeing man. McKinnon, he declared, made no outcry.

McKinnon made his way to Newell, where he awakened Dr. V. E. McEl-downey, who took him to the hospital at 2 o'clock Saturday morning.

Police Visit East End Home.
Fultz and two plainclothes men who were not recognized, went to the home of Walter McKinnon, Erie street, at 3 o'clock Saturday morning to search for the prisoner. McKinnon said the police showed no search warrant and ordered McKinnon to "show us the way."

McKinnon took them up to his brother's room but told them not to enter another bedroom occupied by his wife who was ill. The police, he claims, then left.

The warrant for McKinnon's arrest, police say, was issued by Mayor Fogo after Edward Flesch appeared at the city hall, stating that he had seen his wife from whom he had been separated for four years, enter the house in company with McKinnon. Relatives of Mrs. Flesch asserted today that Mrs. Flesch had been bedfast and not out of the house for several days.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The "unwept, unhonored and unsung" thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines who died during the World war without their names ever being assembled, are at last to be remembered.

FIRE DESTROYS COAL TIPPLE

Police Investigate $15,000 Blaze at Kimberly.

NELSONVILLE, O., May 14.—Police were today investigating the fire, said to be of incendiary origin, which Saturday night destroyed a tipple of the Highland Coal company at Kimberly, Athens county, with a loss estimated at $15,000.

Bloodhounds yesterday were said to have led the investigators to the door of a union mine sympathizer. No arrests were made.

The fire occurred just one week after Joseph Davis, owner of the tipple, had withdrawn a watchman he had posted after threats that the mine would be destroyed. The mine was operated on an open shop plan with 40 men at work. It had a daily output of 150 tons of coal.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 18 years. I have been going out with a boy for a long time but I do not care for him although he cares a great deal for me. I do care for another boy and we are friends. He acts as though he cares for me at times, then at other times he is indifferent to me but always very nice. How can I win his love?

DOLLY.

DOLLY: You are entirely too young to be thinking of love, Dolly. Continue your friendship with both your friends, and do not waste your time worrying yourself over whether or not "he" loves you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl nineteen years of age, and have been going with a young man twenty-five years old. He tells me he loves me but goes with other girls. I have been going with him, but not steadily, for about six years. He gets angry with me if I go with other boys. He treats me very nicely in other ways. Do you think he would go with other girls if he loved me? Please advise me what to do. Should I give him up? ANXIOUS.

HEARING AT WASHINGTON TODAY

Completion of the road would also give the Youngstown steel district an outlet to southern market over this new road, with river re-loading at Smiths Ferry.

National Loop Race Tightens

But Yanks, in American, Boost Lead by 135 Points.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Comedy may be the motif of the American league situation, with the Yankees increasing their advantage of 135 percentage points at the end of last week to 142 at the beginning of this one, but to the clubs immediately involved, the National league race is about as comical as a hair lip. The Giants were comfortably behind the Reds, who moved into first place yesterday by winning from the hopeless Phillies while the Giants were tossing off their second straight to the Cubs.

The entire National is readjusting itself as the result of a general balancing of values. The Cubs, for example, stopped losing to every one and proceeded to win from all comers, beating the Giants and Dodgers out of six straight, gaining no less than 108 points in the percentage table and advancing from fifth to third place in the standing of the clubs. The Cards, meantime, also reeled off six in a row but were stopped yesterday by the Braves.

Redlegs Gain 30 Points.
Cincinnati gained 30 points on the week. The Cubs, Cards and Reds were the only entries to do themselves any good for the seven days in question. Brooklyn losing 98 points in the table and dropping from third to sixth place.

By comparison, the American league has no more action than a tableau. The Athletics and Indians did manage to keep moving in the general direction of some place by winning four out of six and gaining seven points each on the week. But the Yanks gained 14.

The White Sox, Cleveland and Detroit have come to the Yankee stadium and have left the record of one game won in nine played. The Yanks' pitching may be a bit uncertain and the Indians pitchers did cramp their style to some extent but they always had the punch with men on.

So far, the Indians have looked the part of the best western club, playing the Yanks right down to the last post, and then knocking off the Athletics for two straight after Mr. Mack's young and old men had won six in a row. And as a fitting tribute to Cleveland's pitching, it might be mentioned that the club averaged just a little more than three runs a game during the week.

Uhle Stops Athletics.
The Athletics were on a roaring rampage until they faced Uhle and company but the last two days have seen them score just once in eighteen innings.

The tip-off on the American league situation is that only one change in the standing was effected during the week and that one saw the Red Sox move from last place at the expense of the White Sox. Detroit and Washington did exchange fifth and sixth places for a day but the end of the week found the Senators heading the second division as before. They have slight cause to congratulate themselves, in view of the fact that the Browns lost 50 percentage points and four out of five ball games and still remained fourth.

The Cubs, like the Indians, got by the week on their pitching. Root and Nehf having suddenly snuffed into it. However, just how long that stay will be able to carry a club in a tight race with a four-run-per-game average remains to be witnessed. The Cards mixed fair pitching with plenty of runs to make their advance; so did the Reds, although the latter needed these eleven runs of yesterday to bring their run average up to adequate proportions.

Frank Kirkham, East Liverpool, who distanced the field in the discus throw and the javelin, heaved the spear 163 feet, five inches, to beat by four inches the mark established in 1921 by Mefort of Lisbon. The East Liverpool athlete, winning the discus, also came within 11 inches of equalling the record in that event, established last year by Older of Salem. Kirkham sailed the discus 108 feet, five inches. The record is 109 feet, four inches.

Salem piled up 64 points to cop the session. Wellsville finished second with 25; East Liverpool third, 21; East Palestine fourth, 17; Leetonia fifth, 13; Lisbon sixth, 9; Columbiana seventh, 5.

Pole vault record was boosted just a fraction less than a foot as Lowell Allen, of Salem, topped the cross bar at a height of 12 feet, 8 inches. The standards said 12 feet, 9 inches, but actual measurement by tape from the middle of the bar to the foot of the standards cut off an inch.

Keith Roessler, Allan's team mate, also soared past the old record, finishing at 12 feet, 5 inches and missing at the 12 feet, 8 inch mark.

In an attempt to establish an official world's interscholastic record, Allan took three trials at an even 13 feet but failed to negotiate the height. Allen made 13 feet one inch, which is considered better than the interscholastic record of 12 feet, 10 1/2 inches, at Madison, Wis., a week ago but his jump was unofficial.

Elmer English, East Liverpool dash star, was off form in the Saturday meet. He lost the century sprint to Allen and Seeds of Salem, but won the 220-yard dash.

"Gunboat" Smith of East Liverpool, added three points to the East Liverpool score with a second in the shot put, while Fugate placed fourth in the mile.

Alston and Terry of Wellsville turned in first in the quarter and the 120 yard hurdles, respectively, while Alston also finished behind English in the 220.

It might also be said that a third record was broken during the meet although it doesn't go down on the books. Working under a new plan placed in effect this year the state association, Referee Dave Williams and his staff had the entire meet over by 4 o'clock, fully a two-hour gain over previous years' finishing time.

The meet was well handled throughout and credit is due the county association and other officials who put it across.

Summary:
100-yard dash—Allen, Salem, won; Seeds, Salem, second; English, East Liverpool, third; Peet, Leetonia, fourth. Time 10 4/5 seconds.

MANDELL RULES 7 TO 5 FAVORITE

NEW YORK, May 14.—Boxing fans who have witnessed the training camp workouts of Jimmy McLarin and Sammy Mandell, who meet in a fifteen-round bout for the lightweight title here Thursday night, believe that Mandell will outpoint "Babe" Face. Few believe that McLarin can outpoint the champion over the long route.

Mandell is a 7 to 5 favorite to win, but the McLarin backers are asking for the knockout odds. A price of 1 to 3 and 1 to 4 looks better to them than 5 to 7. They expect the Californian to finish the champion within a few rounds.

LATZO MUST WIN TO GET BIG BOUT

NEW YORK, May 14.—Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., former welterweight champion, must defeat Bing Conlay of Lewiston, Me., in their ten-round bout here tonight in order to remain eligible for his lightweight title fight with Tommy Loughran on May 30.

WALTER HAGEN TO TOUR EUROPE

PARIS, May 14.—Walter Hagen, one of the particularly bright stars in America's golfing constellation, has had his ups and downs since coming to Europe last month, two downs and one up to be exact. But he apparently likes the old world, for he plans touring Berlin, Vienna, the Riviera and Ireland and indulging in exhibition matches between trains before returning to the United States for the National open championship in June.

TUNNEY RESUMES TRAINING WORK

SPECULATOR, N. Y., May 14.—Gene Tunney has started light training at his isolated mountain camp here in preparation for his title bout with Tom Heeney, but the champion will not take on any sparring partners until a few days before the first of the month. The heavyweight champion is sticking to road work at present. He showed signs of exhaustion after covering three miles in his initial run yesterday.

Tunney has about ten weeks in which to reduce from 200 to 190 pounds, his fighting weight. His workouts next week will consist mainly of shadow boxing, rope skipping and bag punching. After that Billy Vidabeck, Bayonne, N. J., boxer and the other sparring partners will give the champion a real workout daily.

Chester and Laughlin On Home Lots Tonight

Riley's Club to Take on League Leading Wells-ville Squad; Katies to Tangle With Dickey's Nine.

Chester and Homer Laughlin, the two West Virginia industrial League leaders in 1927, tonight will go into action on their home lots against Ohio invaders, Wellsville Nash Motors and K. T. K., respectively as the second week of baseball league gets underway.

Having lost one and tied one, the Homer Laughlin squad is set for a determined drive against the local pottery crew in an effort to break into the win column while Chester finds itself in the same predicament, facing the present league leaders.

The Wellsville outfit has clipped off three opponents in a row, defeating the Madison Billiards in two successive contests and taking over the Chester nine in the third.

The swatting of the Wellsville aggregation has been outstanding and the biggest factor in its winning streak.

The Constant Flame

Narrative of Love and Struggle
Against Temptations

By WINIFRED VAN DUZTR

CHAPTER 1.

Emily Day was not going to the high school picnic with the rest of her class. Picnics cost money even in the little town of Lyall and the Days were poor.

There were reasons too why she particularly longed to go, laughing hours in the open—sun striking lacey shadows—and Kent Rossiter calling, "Hey!—come on for row!"

She thought often of Kent Rossiter—not because he was rich—the Rossiter's owned the big factory where her father had worked for years—but because he stood for her ideal of the Perfect Knight.

As she started out from her modest home the thought of him held her, tightening into her throat. The fine, joyous sweetness of him—the jaunty charm. They had been friends nearly four years now—ever since the day of the party when he called her into the "post office" and brushed her cheek in his laughing way.

Nothing could take from her the friendliness he had given. Something of protectiveness—there was the night he had happened along when Marty Nolan had backed her against a hedge and was tormenting her.

Emily whispered, "Kent!" and stood sobbing while they fought. It was an uneven match; Marty was wide and solid and used to rough and tumble encounters. He hit out once or twice, turned and fled while Kent rocked giddily and pressed a handkerchief to a gash on his cheek.

"Oh, you shouldn't have done it! Now he's hurt you!" "Not any, kid." The tall boy grinned. "Don't cry. He won't come back—oh, you're scared. Going home? I'll just walk with you."

He picked up her books—caught her hand all cozy and laughing—waded up the hill to her door.

And the next day when Ole Stickney, the Principal, had him in, bent upon dealing out adequate punishment to any who had offered violence to a Rossiter, Kent refused to speak.

And when they read "Idylls of the King" in class Emily kept seeing the sor of the Rossiters in Galahad, the knight "sans peur et sans reproche."

But on the night of the class-play when he came toward her across the dimmed stage, eyes all softly lighted, a smile lifting the beautiful, full-cut lips, it was the dashing romance of Lancelot that rushed piercingly into her thought.

She was like a pale rose touched by moonlight, all in white with her fluff of hair shimmering. Agnes Day had cut up her wedding dress to make the little frock; many weary hours had gone into fashioning its slender grace.

Now Kent looked at her, bending down swiftly. "Lord, you're sweet, Emmy! So white and sweet—little white flower!"

A dream—beauty—ah, beauty like silver bells chiming! What did it matter that Marty kept always near watching under drawn-down brows? When he came up to her after it was over, asked her gruffly if he might see her home, she refused him in a kidly way and he turned without a word.

Standing before the high, old-fashioned mirror, she would run the comb through her hair—brush it down till each pale curl seemed to catch and hold a living glow. And she would whisper, "Sweet—he said I was sweet. Little white flower."

She wondered if this was love. Had a girl as poor as she the right to love anyone like Kent?

As she swung along, the past few years marched in review. There was her mother struggling to make ends meet, trying to give her an education and trying to keep a rein on her flaming sister, Kathryn, nicknamed "Kitten"—there was her father, forever grumbling at the rich, making himself a martyr and frowning on schools and learning—there were the Brents, whom her mother called "common," but who were toiling hard to better themselves—there were Anne Morrow, the judge's daughter, and Avis Rossiter, and Marty.

And everywhere it seemed, was a strange, invisible wall between the people who lived on "the hill" as she did, and the people like the Rossiters.

Was it money that made the barrier, or was it education, or was it both?

Could a girl without money make her way to success? She knew the lack of money—it meant not only staying home from the picnic, but not "belonging." She had two dresses, one for every day and the other for special occasions. And some of the girls, snuggly self-conscious in smart New York models, would look at her with the veiled appraisal which is the expression of feline femininity of all ages and in all places.

Her mother gave her what spare change she could and urged her to meet people. "You must do this, Emmy. Say nothing to your father—hard for him to understand—you must know how to meet people. It's more important than books."

Mrs. Day held up her own sister, Emily's Aunt Mary, as a shining example of what a woman could do. Aunt Mary taught Latin, took courses at Columbia and vacations in Europe. Steph hated her and she despised him. If he had had his way Emily would have gone to work as Stella Brent had, but for once in her drab life Mrs. Day revolted.

"You hear me? Emily goes back to school or I go out of your house. Now you say which it'll be!" "Well—" He rustled his newspaper. "No need gettin' het up, is they Aggie? Send her to school if you feel like it."

Emily thought of her mother with infinite tenderness, always saving, trying to help.

There was the blue dress Agnes had so lovingly made. How gay Emily had felt when she put it on and how fearful when she left school in the rain, covering it carefully with her coat. As she neared home a car came tearing by—skidded. The fender brushed her as the great bulk whirled half-way round and sent her sprawling into the gutter.

She was not hurt. She pulled herself up, stood looking down with a queer chill creeping over her. The ditch was half filled with water; now dark streaks ran over the blue wool.

The car had stopped up the road and was backing slowly. But she gave a little, terrified cry and struck out across the fields. She wasn't hurt—oh, no. But a lovely dream was shattered. No more to walk joyously, queen it in blue that turned her eyes sapphire, with everybody saying, "Gee, Em, that's one nifty outfit!"

Agnes cried, too, and tried to be comforting. "Everything for the best Emmy if you'll let it be so. This may turn out a happy thing, who knows? There, now; don't you'll have another dress much nicer."

Along with the thought of her mother came a vision of "Kitten" becoming a dancing sprite to a figure with a flaming aureole of hair and long, yellow eyes. Chin flung high, lips parted, a knowing smile, she was a colorful, capricious thing and she had a strange knack of always getting her own way.

Many a storming hour brewed in the Day household about the elfin set.

She treated with a rare flippancy her father's rantings and those he ranted against.

"Guess ole Rossiter wouldn't be such a bum if he gave you his money, would he, dad?" she'd suggest with a giggle.

"I'll have no sauce from you, Miss." Steve would reply, suddenly filled with dignity.

Sometimes she would take walks with Emily in the evening. They would go out River Road, loitering past Highcliffe, the Rossiter home. A stately villa of gray stone set far back from the street toward the river bank and shielded from prying eyes by a tall English wall. Even the gates were screened by casual clumps of pine and cedar.

But, lingering so, the girls would catch glimpses of shaded lamps, light gleaming down a nickle-hooded motor perhaps hear a strain of music. Very unreal, very fairy-like it seemed to them as they wondered what living in such magnificence would be like.

"Isn't it swell—elegant, Emmy? Mrs. Briggs says Avis has a whole suite of rooms for herself and a maid just to take care of her clothes. Mmm, maybe I wouldn't like that. Makes you see why father goes raving around."

Mrs. Samantha Briggs was the Rossiter housekeeper and a friend of Agnes, so the Days received at first hand all the gossip from Highcliffe.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 14.—Curtiss Aeroplane led a sharp advance in the specialty stocks at the beginning of trading in the stock market today. Buying orders for the motors and industries accumulated as usual over the double holiday.

Curtiss jumped an additional 12 points to 154 and Wright Motors gained seven points to sell at 197 in the first half-hour as the result of persistent rumors that these companies would combine in a gigantic project for commercial aviation covering a wide area over North and South America, according to these reports. Henry Ford will back the project financially and Colonel Lindbergh will head the company. Today's new gains in these stocks are in addition to last week's 35-point advances.

Radio reached a new top above 210, up four and one-half points from last Friday's close, in extremely heavy trading in this period, and General Motors spurred four points to around 208. The lower priced motors and the popular oils pushed forward a point or two, under the leadership respectively of Chrysler and Standard Oil of New York. Consolidated Gas gained four points on reports of the proximity of its amalgamation with Brooklyn Edison and Brooklyn Union Gas. Montgomery Ward continued its sensational upward movement, but Collins and Aikman fell back seven points to 76 as the result of the omission of its quarterly dividend.

BRITISH BANK HEART BREAKER FOR CRACKSMEN

Pressure on Button Will Flood London Building.

18-TON DOORS

Vaults Surrounded by Walls, Eight Feet Thick.

LONDON.—The newly built Bank of England reconstructed at a cost of $25,000,000 will be the "heartbreak house for cracksmen."

Pressure on one button will flood the bank; doors will weigh 18 tons, and yet a child could move them; and there will be miles of electric alarm wires.

While the business of the bank has been carried on as usual for the past three years, 50 vaults have been made surrounded by walls 50 feet deep and eight feet thick. Such are the provisions for safety that it would take 100 cracksmen a year to get into the main vault—even if there were no guards or alarms.

The main vault lies 50 feet below the ground. It is a room 60 feet square, which ten tons of dynamite and modern oxy-acetylene apparatus could not penetrate.

Strong Guards.

The entrance to the vaults is stationed in "honey-holes" at various points of vantage, and so delicate are the alarms that a glove or pocket book dropped in a most unlikely spot would stir half a dozen electric bells into activity.

The first obstacle to be overcome in obtaining entrance to the vaults is the penetration of a wall of solid concrete 50 feet deep and eight feet thick, each large block "keyed" to the other. Beyond this great wall is a long dark winding passage and zigzagging down it every few yards are "alarm spaces" connected with bells.

Then there is a double door of steel grilles—two-inch bars of the finest steel, two inches apart.

No key will open this defense. They are worked electrically and the cracksmen who penetrated the 50 feet wall would find himself with a full day's work here. Even now the secret of the main vault remains intact. Here are two huge steel doors, riddled with keyholes—each door weighing 18 tons. So finely balanced are these blocks of steel that a child could move them with ease. They respond to the touch of a little finger—when unlocked.

When the massive locks and bolts are shot home dynamite enough to wreck the whole building would have to be used in order to burst them.

Beyond is what is to be the treasure house of the nation, and the person who puts one foot inside it will immediately summon two detectives.

Tunnel Defense.

The remaining 49 vaults are on the second and third floor. On the second floor has been constructed a defense that will strike terror into the heart of the most daring cracksmen. It is a small tunnel—leading to a spot that only a dozen people know. It is a two-fold defence—against burglars and fire, for the pressure of a button inside the bank, at Scotland Yard—nearly three miles away—or at the house of the governor of the bank will send scores of tons of water hurtling through the gan to flood the vaults.

Miles of wires interlace the building, forming the most intricate alarm system in the world. Many new and secret devices which will not be used in any other building, have also been installed.

The bank is now the finest structure in the British empire and is calculated to last 1,500 years.

MILLIONS OF LAUGHS

GIGGLES galore coming quickly. Hang on with both hands and watch this up-to-the-minute American humor master change the world from blue to gold. He's an honest-to-goodness hunter for trouble but he has that optimistic twist that turns clouds to sunshine. He manages to crawl out of tight places with a great deal more than he had when he crawled in.
